It is our great pleasure to invite you to the XLIX Symposium on Operational Research, Sym-Op-Is 2022. This year's organizer is the University of Belgrade – Faculty of Economics and Business in cooperation with other higher education and research institutions and societies.

The conference will be organized from September 19 to September 22, 2022, in Vrnjačka Banja. The venue will take place in hotel Fontana.

Sym-Op-Is is an international symposium organized since 1974. It presents an annual gathering of OR researchers, both theoreticians, and practitioners, to exchange scientific and technical information, convey experiences, and present new results achieved in developing and applying OR methods. The Symposium Programme comprises plenary lectures and numerous sections that accommodate exchanging ideas among academia and industry, both from Serbia and abroad. The main aim of the Symposium is the development and applications of new Operational Research methods, models, and techniques. Various sections ensure a valuable mixture of theoretical and practical aspects of Operational Research.
